Service provided:

Building Advice Bureau offers access to expert surveying advice to any member of the general public looking to undertake construction works. Whether they are:

- Considering to undertake building works in the future
- In the process of having works done
- At the end or recently completed works

We have a simple step by step advisory service that can assist. By using our service it ensures that you are in a position of strength and knowledge with your builder, contributing to you receiving value for money, and the quality end product you deserve

National Coverage:

We offer our service nationally throughout the country, and as we are part of a larger group of companies, if required we can offer an on site inspection service, undertaken by one of our construction professionals
